

Hopkinsville Kentucky.

CHAS. M. MEACHAM.
MEMORIAL DAY IN ADVANCE

TUESDAY, JANUARY 24, 1906

The New York Tribune's Almanac for 1905 contains the Capital of Kentucky at Lexington.

The successor to Senator Canale will have but two years to serve, as the latter's term would have expired in 1906.

Senator James Smith, of New Jersey, will be the seventh Smith to sit in the Senate, but the first since Delano Smith in 1865.

Mrs. N. B. Forrest, widow of the late Confederate General, died at Memphis Saturday aged 60 years. She survived with her only son Capt. Win. Forrest.

"Buck" Kilgore, of Texas, is believed to have been the author of the $175,000 plan for which it is believed "Quinn Jim" McKim's measure has been taken.

Senator-elect Murphy, of New York, says he will not oppose Mr. Cleveland, but will keep himself in accord with Democratic action. Reports to the contrary are unauthorized.

With the single exception of Jan. 6, 1863, Sunday, Jan. 15, was the coldest day at Louisville since 1867. The mercury registered 10 degrees below zero, or the lowest degree colder than it is in Hopkinsville.

Jim Edwards' new paper, the Elkton Press, is in its third year, and is better than its predecessor and now presents as pretty and snappy a get-up as any weekly in the State. Editorially it is bound to be bright and reliable as long as its present editor is at the helm.

The Register is working to secure Sam Jones at Owensboro some time in the near future, so well pleased were the people with his recent visit. Mr. Jones will go to Memphis February 1 and later in the spring has engagements for Paducah and Bowling Green. He will lecture here some night about the middle of February.

Gov. Brown has signed the new World's Fair bill and reappointed all the Old Commissioners excepting Mr. Allison, one of the Republicans from Muhlenberg county, was named in Mr. Allison's place and promptly received his seat in the Legislature. Speaker Moore has called a special session in that county for Feb. 4 and as Mr. Montgomery is a close county ally he may have another vote in the coming Democratic caucus before a decision is reached.

Female suffrage exists in Wyoming and the fact that a large club of women voters has endorsed a national temper for United States Senator, in treating a good deal of attention in newspapers. The general conviction that female suffrage has proven a disappointment in the only State. Sent for testimonials from.
